NUMBER 55, WHOLE NO. 103.]

BLOOMFIELD, NEW JERSEY, SATURDAY, APRIL 25, 1885.

[PRICE, $2.00 PER YEAR.]

THE BLOOMFIELD CITIZEN A WEEKLY JOURNAL LOCAL NEWS AND HOME READING.

Office: Over the Post Office.

Special Notice.

The office of the CITIZEN is open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, from 7 to 9 o'clock. Contributions should be sent to the office not later than Thursday evening.

The author's name must accompany all communications or contributions to the CITIZEN (which will be published or not as desired). All others will be rejected.

ABOUT TOWN.

John Beck's new house on Spruce street is now nearly completed.

Samuel Lind has improved his Canal street residence by an addition.

Mr. Joseph Sankey is making extensive repairs to his house on Belleville avenue.

Dr. Jos. A. Davis is gaining in strength and hope is entertained of his continued improvement.

Edwards Ely, of Newark, has a fine display of seeds for gardens which he is selling very low.

Mr. L. K. Dawkins has just received another consignment of fine butter, also dairy and staple groceries.

Mr. Samuel Moore will start from England in a few days for home. He has now been abroad for over a year.

The return of warm weather has rendered street sprinkling a necessity. Mr. Wm. Baldwin has the contract for this year.

John V. Smith has given up his position as night patrolman on account of being requested to work more hours for the same pay.

William S. Peloubet has resigned his position as Drum Major, and severed his connection with the Pierson Post Drum Corps.

Will call attention to a new department in the ladies' emporium, stamping, the new call.

The children of the German Presbyterian Church will hold a fair and festival at the church parlors next Thursday afternoon and evening.

Mr. R. W. Gardner has removed his office to the Park House for the Summer, and his house on Broad street is being altered and enlarged.

The funeral of Theodore F. Pierson, who died on Monday afternoon, was largely attended from the late residence on Arling avenue, Thursday.

Mr. S. Jenkins is seriously ill with a fever on his neck. Mr. John Hall, who is suffering from the same complaint, has not improved since the last mention.

Mr. William Griffin announces that he is prepared to nurse the sick, and sit up with them all night. Any one needing his services can address him at Bloomfield.

The wife of Edward E. Mike, died on Monday afternoon, after a brief illness. The funeral was held at the late residence on Montgomery street, on Wednesday.

Mr. J. H. Taylor attends to the repairing of old pictures and cleaning the same. Now is the time to have your renovating done. He is agent for the Richardson & Bayliff Picture.

James R. Chey, whose picture frame was burned on the 17th inst., will receive May 1st with new stock, next to the store formerly occupied by the pharmacy.

The son of John and Eliza Frank (late of Brooklyn, but formerly of this place) was buried in the Bloomfield cemetery on Monday afternoon. This is the second time they have buried.

The Public Road Board have compelled the Boyer estate to remove a stoop from its building on Bloomfield avenue which has been there for a number of years, because it overreached a few inches on the avenue.

Mr. Tom Bourne has the agency for the Adams' Corrugated Metallic Sheet Pipe, made by the A. B. C. Fence Company of New York. Send to him for circular and pamphlet describing same, 60 Cherry street, New York.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bloomfield Publishing Company was held on Monday, and resulted in the re-election of the old board of directors, with the exception of Joseph B. Maxfield, who is succeeded by G. Lee Stout.

Mr. H. H. Ragan, who is lecturing on "Who is Who, or All in a Fog," will lecture on Friday evening, his lecture illustrating ed by magnificent stereopticon views which cannot be excelled. Report of other entertainments in another column.

—Edward Heckel returned from Buffalo on Tuesday, whither he had gone on a short trip.

—The Whist Club will meet Monday evening next at Dr. Bailey's, on Monroe place.

—Mr. Henry P. Cadmus, formerly of this place, is quite sick at his home at Brick Church, the trouble being Bright's disease.

—Mr. R. W. Gardner is about to make extensive improvements in his house on Broad street. His family in the meantime are boarding at the Park House.

—The steady stream of humanity that pours through Mr. Carl's yard from street to street has become so annoying to his family that we are afraid he will put his gates under lock.

—The Arcadian Dramatic Association, of East Orange, will appear in Library Hall on the evening of May first, under the auspices of Olive Branch Lodge, I. O. O. F., of this place, when they will present the dramas "Who is who, or all in a Fog," and "Maud's Peril."

—The annual meeting of the School Trustees of Essex County, will be held in the public school house in the Eastern District, East Orange, on Saturday, the 25th instant, at 2:30 p. m. It is earnestly hoped that every trustee will endeavor to be present.

—Force Brothers, of this place, delivered a lecture on "Italy, it lakes, cities, cathedrals and art galleries," in Hoboken, last evening. It was brilliantly illustrated by the oxy-hydrogen lime light, the pictures being displayed on a canvass about twenty feet square.

—Abram Day will reopen his bakery on Glenwood avenue during the coming week; extensive repairs are now being made to the building and its appointments. Mr. Day's reputation as an excellent baker is well known in this place, and his advertisement in another column should secure him a share of the public patronage.

—A few days ago a lady and her daughter were walking on the man trap sidewalk in front of Miss M. Fannie Dodd's property, on Broad street, when the mother caught her foot in one of the loose boards and was thrown to the ground, injuring her leg. The walk should be removed or repaired; and —Miss Anna Koehler, daughter of August Koehler, and John Walker, a Newark merchant, were united in matrimony on Thursday evening, at the residence of the bride's father, on Canal street. Rev. Ezra D. Simons performed the ceremony, in the presence of only the near relatives of the families. Mr. and Mrs. Walker left for their Newark home later in the evening.

—C. L. Ward & Sons have just completed a handsome water wagon for street sprinkling for William Baldwin the expressman. It is named "The Pride of the Town." The tank is eight feet long by four in diameter and has a capacity of 500 gallons. It is one of the most complete wagons of the kind ever used in Bloomfield. The same firm have also just completed a new phaeton, a side-bar buggy and a Westchester coach, all of which have been turned out this week.

—Many citizens unite in requesting those who do not attend for worship to keep away from the vicinity of any meetings which may be held by the so-called "Salvation Army." They hope that parents will keep their girls and boys out of the streets in the vicinity of any such performances. If Bloomfield is to be afflicted with such a travesty on religion, it is hoped the performers will not disturb the usual order and quiet of our Sabbath and of our week evenings. This cannot be allowed in Bloomfield, for obvious reasons.

—Last Tuesday evening, Prof. Charles M. Davis gave the Westminster Society a brief outline of his "Trip to Arizona," in the summer of 1883. It is to be regretted that as Prof. Davis felt his address limited to one hour, he was able only to touch slightly places, people and things that it would have been a pleasure to hear about more fully. The last entertainment of the course of the W. S. Y. P. will be given May 4th, and will be an evening of "Readings," by Rev. S. W. Duffield. Any one who has heard Mr. Duffield's Seminary lectures and readings will know what an enjoyable evening this promises to be.

Mr. Ragan's Illustrated Tours.
It is really worth while to chronicle a pleasant entertainment in Library Hall. That dingy place of alleged amusement has been tenanted by dirt and cold third-class shows so long that sensible citizens have given it a wide berth. But, to the credit of its present owners, it ought to be said that the onslaughts of the CITIZEN have produced an effect at last. We have already mentioned with approval, its new furnace and its fresh paint. More, it is true, needs to be done before we are ready to call it a first-rate auditorium; but still, what has been done is pretty good.

Mr. Ragan has now brought a kind of entertainment which is interesting as well as unexceptionable. We spoke last week about his facility and ease as a lecturer; we can add that the second and third occasions on which he has appeared have not destroyed the charm. He is natural and agreeable and his manner is better, to our mind, than that of Mr. Stoddard, who is possibly the most celebrated of these photographic travelers.

On Tuesday evening, he gave a tour through Northern Italy, with pictures of Verona, Turin, Milan, the Lake of Como and Venice, and on Thursday, one through the Rhine and Switzerland. As before, his illustrations were accurately shown by the help of a well-trained assistant and a good pair of oxy-hydrogen lanterns. The focusing and the transfers were admirable.

This lovely village of ours possesses a good many people who despise, or affect to despise, any entertainment of a doubtful character. They are heard, not now however as much as formerly, bewailing the lack of moral resorts of various kinds. But it is noticeable that when as excellent an occasion as the presents itself they do not spring to embrace it with the zeal one might expect. If Mr. Ragan does not receive a substantial mark of Bloomfield's approval we shall feel that these grumblers have fallen into a chronic condition from they will never arouse. The audiences were not all that we should have thought they would be. Perhaps some have contented themselves with their first free evening and carefully denied themselves the pleasure of any more. That is precisely the way to keep good things out of Bloomfield.

It is superfluous to add that the CITIZEN is expressing a frank and honest opinion as usual. We have but one word of blame, and it is that Mr. Ragan has not learned the difficult art of knowing when and how to keep his hands still.

The Salvation Army.

A division of the Salvation Army, which has been endeavoring for some time to secure in this place in which to conduct their meetings, succeeded last week in obtaining Dodd's Hall. The first meeting was held on Sunday night and conducted by Captain Smith, assisted by a staff officer, Lieutenant Minnie, comrade Samuel Lay and several others. Devotion to the "Salvation Army" began to sing, play on the tambourines and pray alternately. Just before eight o'clock they repaired to the hall and opened fire in the usual way. Either through regard for the Sabbath, or from not fully understanding the character of the meeting, the boys were not very disorderly; but on the following evening such a crowd as but few people thought could be found in this place, had assembled for some fun as they call it.

The meeting was very disorderly and the pleadings of the leaders were only jeered at. Tuesday evening it was even worse than Monday. Many young men of whom better conduct should be expected were present throwing shot, talking aloud and in every conceivable way creating disorder. Since that time the Army have remained within their rooms, which are in one of Mrs. Hayes' small houses near the hall, as the owner would not allow the hall to be again opened for them. As no other suitable quarters are to be secured they must either hold out door meetings or leave the town.

Through their mode of conducting service is laughable, they should not be annoyed. The young men should either behave or stay at home and allow these or any other fanatics to conduct their worship as their conscience dictates. Should they yet be able to secure a place for services, it is to be hoped they will also secure the assistance of the constables and punish any person who attempt to annoy them.

Inns, Taverns and Saloons.

The following named persons were licensed at the present term of Court to keep inns and taverns in this town for the coming year: William Erb, William D. Broadhead, Louis Schaup, Gottfried Kurz, Adam Metz and Benjamin Mortimer, the following to keep saloons: Alicia Kelly, Margaret Crosse, William Frank and Charles Minhardt; ten in all.

The signers of applications are given elsewhere. Objection was made to the granting of licenses to Gottfried Kurz, on the ground of his indictment and sentence for keeping a disorderly house at the last term of Court, and for the additional reason that since last December, he had been selling without a license. The objections to Charles Minhardt were of the same nature. In both these cases the Court granted the licenses. In all other cases where objections were made the licenses were granted.

It is becoming more and more evident that in this county a license is a matter of right, and that no past violation of the law is a bar to its granting. The number of licensed and unlicensed places for the sale of liquor in this town is about thirty; one to every two hundred inhabitants, or forty adult males.

COMMERCE
FLOUR.

We will pay a reward of $200.00 to any person who will produce testimonials equal to those we receive in relation to the quality of our flour. We guarantee that the flour we sell is of the highest quality, and that it can be sold at as low price as the "COMMERCE."

Leading Stationers, Lawyers, Physicians, Divines, Manufacturers and Bakers speak of it in the highest terms.

It is noticed and remarked that the "Commerce" Flour always has a rich creamy color and that it will produce more bread than the same quantity of ordinary flour.

Some dealers will take lots of time and use every argument to persuade you to buy some "so-called" high grade flour at a high price in order to get a big profit. But be persuaded, but save your money by buying the uniform, standard high grade, low priced "COMMERCE."

Be sure to get the GENUINE "COMMERCE" which is always branded as follows:—
